Perennial pop enthusiasts ART BRUT are delighted to announce a new limited edition double compilation LP titled A Record Collection, Reduced To A Mixtape plus a 5 CD box set, And Yes, This Is My Singing Voice!, both set for release on 5th July 2024 via Demon Records and Edsel Box Set.

The releases are available to preorder now from: <http://artbrut.lnk.to/compilation>

For more information please contact Jamie Otsa at Wall of Sound PR: jamie@wallofsoundpr.co.uk

Double LP set A Record Collection, Reduced To A Mixtape features tracks taken from their seminal albums Bang Bang Rock and Roll, It's A Bit Complicated, Art Brut vs Satan, Brilliant! Tragic!, alongside rare live and alternate takes, all compiled by the band.

It serves as the first comprehensive career retrospective from Art Brut since the Top of the Pops album in 2014, and brings together the best and most well-known tracks from their catalogue. The special edition (pressed on 140g marine green vinyl and limited to 500 copies) also features a liner note written by Art Brut frontman Eddie Argos, and a hand-signed print.

In addition, the new 5 CD box set, And Yes, This Is My Singing Voice!, is the first edition of a two-part set: a comprehensive compilation of the South London art-rockers' career, spanning their early discography, demo takes, alternative mixes and live recordings between 2003 – 2008.

The collection features the debut album Bang Bang Rock and Roll, their second studio album It's A Bit Complicated, and also includes unreleased live material Art Brut – Live in Paris 2006 and Art Brut Live From ULU with Horns.

The CD box set comes with a 24 page zine, with a 2,000 word liner note from Art Brut frontman Eddie Argos and exclusive photography of the band. It also includes a signed print of an original Art Brut artwork, painted by Eddie Argos.

Art Brut will play a run of UK and DE shows this September and October 2024, with a London date at Brixton Electric on 26th October. Tickets are on sale Friday 26th April 2024, see below for listings.

More info:

Art Brut have been a revitalised force since the release of their return-to-form 2018 album Wham! Bang! Pow! Let's Rock Out!—the band reissued their seminal 2005 debut album Bang Bang Rock & Roll on Alcopop! Records x Fierce Panda for its 15th anniversary in April 2020, flanked by a clutch of German shows to celebrate, before a little thing called COVID derailed their planned UK release party.

17 years since it first saw the light of day—way back when in 2005—all of the album tracks were remastered and sounding even better than before, and the band played Bang Bang Rock & Roll in full (plus assorted greatest hits) at Heaven, London on 27th October 2022, releasing a rare 2005 B-side 'These Animal Menswear' available for the first time as a digital single.

The band also released a special Record Store Day 2020 reissue of their 2005 hit 'Modern Art' including a 16 minute, as-live, 'Berlinische' version of the single crammed onto a black and red splatter 7" with 300 individually decorated sleeves featuring contributions from fans, family, friends, artists and bona fide rock stars.

Big names involved include: Black Francis, John Cooper Clarke, Dev from IDLES, Ian Burden and Jo Callis of The Human League, Ben 'Eddison Tollett' Crompton from Game of Thrones, David Devant, Tess Parks and members of The Manic Street Preachers, Bis, The Lovely Eggs, TIGERCUB, Gaffa Tape Sandy, Cheerbleederz, and more.
